About TRG Results

TRG Results provides coaching, training, and consulting services to bring a unique combination of Behavioral Analyst Becca Robinson To Attend 24th Annual TRG Results Winners' Conference

Our foundation is based on 80 % psychology and 20% mechanics. We assure the behavioral changes and the leadership needed by management in this new economy with sustainable, purpose driven and result focused.

TRG Results found that standard cookie cutter training and development does not adequately address the needs of the individual, team and leader. Their established programs incorporate personal assessments, sound methodology and hard questioning that accelerates development and ensures growth.

TRG Results provides specific plans for the delivery of high level, focused programs based on information provided in individual interviews and assessments. They continually set the bar by providing proven, customized programs, supported with expertise that is designed to develop both the team and the bottom line.
